Requirements describe observable system behavior.

Testing verifies behavior against requirements.